PERMANENT COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS ORGANIZED

Convention of County Business Men Results in Constructive Action

CONSTITUTION IS ADOPTED

Objects Defined—Officers Elected Shortly After Noon Hour—Addresses Made on Credit Problem During Afternoon Meeting.

Organization of the Washington County Chamber of Commerce, the purpose of which is the promotion of such activities as will tend most materially to develop civic, commercial, industrial and agricultural prosperity, was effected today at the second convention of Washington county business men. The sessions were held here in the high school auditorium. The morning session began at 10:30, with Guy Moffitt, Esq., of Charleroi in charge as chairman. J. D. Berryman, representing the Charleroi Business Men's Association, made a brief speech of welcome, and at once the association plunged into its mass of business.

A resolution committee was named by Chairman Moffitt to outline the plan and present a motion toward the organization of the proposed Chamber of Commerce, the committee consisting of John L. Stewart of Washington, Harry McNelly of Washington and J. E. Masters of Charleroi. This committee's report was followed by the vote favoring permanent organization.

A committee appointed at the first convention, at Washington last October reported on constitution and by-laws through its chairman Homer Craig of Claysville. With a number of changes they were adopted. According to the constitution the association is to take in all classes of tradesmen and professional men. The ruling power is to be vested in a board of seven directors, but a secretary-treasurer is to be the active officer.

The constitution was adopted while the whistles were sounding the noon hour and a motion for adjournment was taken up like a flash, while a scamper was made for the high school gymnasium where women from the free library association were serving luncheon. Arrangements were made for the election of officers to take place at 1:15 o'clock when the afternoon session was called. The nominating committee was named to consist of H. L. Lamb of California, Dr. J. A. Spruells of Donora, Joe T. S. Cowen of Roscoe, Lee Ward of Washington, W. A. Kennedy of Monongahela, C. S. Van Voorhis of Charleroi, Charles Caldwell, W. E. Lane and L. Ochs of Washington.

Officers were elected as follows: J. D. Berryman was elected president. The names of other officers will be given later.

Charles M. Ketchum of Washington was the first speaker of the afternoon his address being on the subject, "Objects, Purposes and Possibilities of Washington County Chamber of Commerce."

William Smedley of Philadelphia followed Mr. Ketchum, his address being on the theme "Displaying, Advertising and Distribution of Merchandise." The last speaker of the afternoon was Councilman Enoch Rauh of Pittsburgh on the subject, "Credits, Collection and Accounting." The first (Continued on page 2)

DISTRICT MINERS TO SPLIT IN THEIR VOTE

Screen Basis Favored Rather Than Run of Mine Basis in Certain Sections—Referendum to Follow Close of New York Conference

When it comes to the referendum the run of mine would be, and consequently they will vote this way. This is said to be true in certain of the thick vein coal mines south of Monongahela along the valley, while in the thin veins the opposite is held to be true.

Officers of the Mine Workers' union have been working for years for the run of mine basis of pay in the bituminous fields. The present advance agreed upon at the New York conference will apply to the wages of the miners 2.39 cents a ton, or approximately $1,230,000. Many of the operators of the Pittsburgh district offered opposition to the proposed increase at the scale conference.

The referendum vote will be taken following the conference in New York which is now closing sessions.

DRUGS STILL GOING HIGHER; EXPORTS LOW

Prices Now Almost Prohibitive—Compounds of Mercury Are Scarce—Financial Interests Not Putting Money in New Plants.

In a bulletin sent out by the publicity committee of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical association early in January, the enormous rise in price of a small number of drugs was given in tabulated form. Some of these showed increases as high as 2,000 per cent. Experts now say that if the war continues for another year the present high prices will look like bargain counter rates, for many drugs and chemicals will be absolutely unobtainable by that time and their places will have to be filled by others possessing identical or similar properties. Many chemical and textile industries are almost crippled by the high prices and scarcity of materials.

There are some interesting underlying reasons for this state of affairs. All of the vegetable and animal oils have risen enormously because of the fact that glycerin can be made from them and the glycerin then converted into the explosive nitroglycerin or dynamite. This is true especially of cod liver oil, which is being taken by Germany from Norwegian sources of supply. Castor oil comes from a seed principally grown in India and Great Britain, who controls the trade has placed an embargo upon the oil, it is said because it is one of the few oils suitable for lubricating aeroplanes.

The compounds of mercury amount to which are calomel, corrosive sublimate, gray powder, blue mass, blue ointment, etc., are scarce because mercury is used in making the compounds known as fulminates, indispensable for the caps used for exploding cartridges and shells.

The potash salts are high and are scarce because the world's largest available supply of easily worked material containing this valuable alkali is in Germany.

Coal tar dyestuffs are rapidly becoming unobtainable on account of the strict blockade which England has enforced since March, 1915 against their importation from Germany.

All vegetable drugs of Italian, Serbian, Turkish and Bulgarian origin have joined the list of sky scrapers during the past few months, for obvious reasons.

Quinine still maintains its abnormally high price on account of the high figures obtained at the recent auction sale of cinchona bark from which the quinine is made, held at Amsterdam, the world's center for the drug.

Glycerin is enormously high also on account of its use in the manufacture of nitroglycerin.

Paris green and other insecticides are high in price on account of the scarcity of the crude products from which they are made. Licorice root and stick licorice have risen to unheard of figures and are still going up, as the Spanish and Italian sources of supply are exhausted and the Russian supply is not available because of the closing of the Dardanelles.

What is needed more than anything else at the present time and what the members of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical association will work for at the coming meeting at Reading is a proper and intelligent revision of the patent laws and the tariff so as to make it possible for our infant chemical industries to gain a foothold without competition from abroad when the war ends. We have the brains and the capital in this country, but no financial interests are going to put money into a project which is unjustly treated by patent laws and tariff regulations as is almost everything pertaining to the manufacture of medicines or chemicals.

CLAIMED TO HAVE VIOLATED HIS PAROLE; ARRESTED HERE

Charged with violating his parole from Western Penitentiary Clarence Smock, better known as Peter Smock, was arrested in Charleroi Wednesday by the police and later in the day was taken back to the penitentiary as a fugitive from justice. Smock was sentenced in 1911 to imprisonment in the penitentiary from one year and three months to five years on the charge of assault and battery with intent to ravish. On June 12, 1913, after serving time and after winning commendation as a model prisoner he was given his liberty by parole. It is now charged that he violated the provisions of the parole and that was the reason for the arrest, which was made at the institutions of John N. Egan, parole officer of Western Penitentiary.

TWO MILLION TONS OF STEEL PRODUCTS ORDERED IN DISTRICT

ANOTHER COAL MINE TO BE OPERATED NEAR CANONSBURG

Pittsburg Capitalists Who Purchased McBride Farm Prepare to Begin Opening in North Strabane

The Canonsburg district is almost certain to have another coal mine in the near future. The Pittsburg capitalists who last year purchased the coal under the J. B. McBride farm, North Strabane township, east of Shingiss station, on the Chartiers railway, it is believed, will this spring begin the work of opening a mine. They hold an option on the W. G. Berry farm, just west of the McBride lands and it is said that the tenants, Mr. Ruse, has been given a tip by the men who hold the option that they are going to close the deal.

The farm, or part of it, will be used as ground on which to dump waste material and houses for miners may also be erected there. The owners of the coal, it is reported, closed up on a deal and have paid money for a right of way for a spur from the Chartiers railroad, which will be built from a point on the Chartiers road a short distance south of the C. C. Johnson residence at Shingiss station to the McBride farm. The McBride farm comprises not far from 175 acres and there is coal under all of it. The mine to be opened at this point will be strictly modern and will have a large output.

BROWNSVILLE IS AHEAD 50 YEARS

Town Tires of Charter 101 Years Old and Comes a Little Nearer to Date

INCORPORATED IN YEAR 1815

Brownsville has tired of the sort of borough it has been for 101 years and is renewing its borough covenant by bringing it 50 years nearer to date. In other words Brownsville is discarding its old borough charter adopted in 1815 and is coming in under the general borough act of 1851.

Prior to 1815 Brownsville had been a settlement, but unincorporated. For 101 years it has operated under this old charter to take advantage of the newer and less complex one. Brownsville became known as a town and considered itself a metropolis when Pittsburgh was in the making, becoming known as Brownsville after Thomas and Basil Brown who laid the foundations for the town. Yet they were not the first settlers. They purchased their land from Michael Cresap, who had settled there about 1770.

Thomas Brown really laid out the town in 1785. The title upon incorporation was "Town of Brownsville," and that has been the official name until present date.

The chief objection to the old charter was that every time a question of law arose it was necessary to search through a great mass of legislation to

PART COMES TO THIS VALLEY

War Contracts Let This Week in Pittsburg Territory, According to Rumor—Australian Concern Wants Billets For Early Shipment.

Two million tons of steel bars, plates and shapes have been ordered from the steel mills of the country in the first half of March, ended Wednesday. This is believed to be the greatest volume of business in these products ever reported in a like period. Subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation are reported to have booked one-half of this enormous tonnage, a considerable proportion of which will be manufactured in the Monongahela valley.

The demand for bars, plates and shapes is so urgent that the Carnegie Steel Company has again advanced prices $2 a ton.

Inquiries, representing approximately a half million tons of semi-finished steel for export have developed in the last two days. An Austrian concern wants 100,000 tons of billets for early shipment. Russia also is said to be urgently inquiring for a big tonnage of billets and rails, while France asks for 5,000 tons of basic pig iron for immediate delivery.

Wednesday it was learned that a number of huge war contracts had been let, principal among which was one for 30,000,000 .303 cartridges for the British government at $42.50 per 1,000 cartridges is said to have been paid three months ago. There was a rumor in Pittsburgh that a Pittsburgh concern had just received an order from the Russian government for 2,500,000 rifles at $25.00 a rifle, but this report could not be confirmed.

The demand for structural steel continues and several large contracts are reported to have been placed with independent shops in the Pittsburgh district. One called for 4,000 tons of steel shapes.

HOME RULE FOR CITIES.

Delegates to the Pennsylvania Convention of the Pennsylvania Commercial Association, held in Atlantic City, were informed that there are many weak points in the commission government as applied to the cities in Pennsylvania. It was declared that the only remedy is home rule, so that each city can be governed according to its individual needs, and the Washington Reporter.

"Business and industries are not attracted to a city which is governed by a commission, and our Pennsylvania cities are greatly hampered by the makeshift system under which they are governed," said one of the speakers, a very sincere man, who has made the subject one of long study.

After all, there may be something to this. There are those who believe that there is a crying need for home rule in certain Pennsylvania cities. Every city has its own problems to solve and a classification as it now exists can, of course, be detrimental. Take the case of Wilkes-Barre, which is forced to be governed in exactly the way as in Pittston. There is not the slightest similarity between the two. Legislators make laws applicable to all cities and the people have no choice in their system of government. It is reasonable to suppose that a citizen should have some word to say on a serious proposition.

So far as this city is concerned, says the Chester Times, the commission for a government has been anything but a failure. It may be a little expensive, but as far as can be seen, results have been secured. But what suits Chester might not be desirable elsewhere.

POPULARITY OF THE BIBLE.

Again the Bible has demonstrated its popularity, for while fiction, history, biography and other modern literature did not reach last year the sale of former years, the oldest book in the world continued to be the best seller, says an exchange. Year after year, it remains at the head of the list, keeping well in advance of Shakespeare, Dickens, and other standard and popular authors. It is not strange, perhaps, that the men in the armies should desire Bibles, and millions of copies have gone to the soldiers in the field. Ever since the beginning of hostilities abroad the export of Bibles from the United States has increased steadily, the number exported running into the millions.

Many religions are represented in the great war, fighting under different flags. The followers of Buddha, Shinto, Mohammed, and Brahmin are under arms beside the Christian and the Jew, and possibly, disciples of Zoroaster, sun worshippers in Persia. There have been Japanese, Hindus, Turks and Algerians, besides the many shades of different social cast in some of the European countries. But the Bible, written by 40 different authors, over a period of 1600 years, attracts more attention among the soldiers than any other. It remains the book of books, as it has been for centuries.

And, aside from the ethics which it teaches, and its lofty code of morals, the Bible has exerted a vast amount of influence for good from a purely literary point of view. Its wide circulation had had its effect on the language of English-speaking people, and its inspiring tone has helped those of other tongues in the same way.

"Now that the Washington County Chamber of Commerce is a reality it faces a vastly important work in its proposed promotion of activities to develop the civic, commercial, industrial and agricultural prosperity. Its job is one of healthy proportions. One of the first ideas the organization proposes to carry into effect is the establishment of an organized credit system to defeat credit evils. But while it is about it why shouldn't it start an educational movement toward the elimination entirely of credit, or in other words toward putting all retail buying on a cash basis. This is an economical feature the value of which no one can deny."

Clayville is considering the feasibility of organizing a board of trade. It doesn't need a vast time considering the feasibility; it needs to go ahead and organize—it is feasible all right enough. But when Clayville organizes it wants to be sure that it is going about it in the right way.

PRECIOUS POSTAGE STAMPS.

Issues That Bring Joy to the Heart of the Philatelist.

One of the questions asked us most frequently is, Which is the rarest of all the stamps? There are not a few claimants for this honor, all of which are exceedingly rare, stamps of which but a single copy is known to exist. Indeed, there is evidence which leads us to believe that some stamps were printed and used of which no copies at all are known to be in existence.

Of those stamps of which only one copy is known, the first is a postmaster's provisional issued at Boscastle, N. H. Another is a stamp from British Guiana. Only one copy of this is known and is in a celebrated collection in Paris, probably the largest collection in the world.

In 1893 the Niger Coast Protectorate issued a series of surcharged stamps, all of which are scarce, and some of the rarest in the ranks of the world's greatest rarities. This refers especially to the twenty shilling values. Of the 20s stamps, only five were ever printed, of the vermilion surcharge, only two copies, and of the black surcharge, only one copy.

As there is and can be only one copy of this last stamp, it is justly entitled to be considered the rarest of all stamps. It probably would not sell so high as the better known and more popular "postoffice" stamps of Mauritius. Yet of these there are known fourteen copies of the penny and twelve of the twopenny.—St. Nicholas.

LUCK IN A MISTAKE.

When the Famous Singer Albani First Went to London.

The curious story of Mme. Albani's first London engagement is as follows: Colonel Mapleson heard of her singing at a theater at Malta, and thinking that she would be successful, he made her an offer through an agent of a contract to sing in Her Majesty's theater. She agreed to it and went to London, but on arriving there she told the cabman to drive her to the Italian opera house.

He, instead of going to Her Majesty's, took her to Covent Garden, which was also devoted to Italian opera. She was shown up to the manager's office and stated that she had come to sign the contract which Mr. Mapleson had offered her.

Mr. Gye, thinking to play a joke on his rival, Mapleson, made out a contract, and Albani signed it. Mr. Gye then told her that he was not Colonel Mapleson, but that he could do much better by her. He offered to tear up the contract; if she liked, but told her that Nilsson was singing at Her Majesty's and would brook no rival.

Albani decided to let the contract stand and thus became one of the stars of Covent Garden, eventually marrying the son of Mr. Gye.—Westminster Gazette.

Cyrus and the Persians.
The Persians of the time of Cyrus were Zoroastrians. The Persian religion was primitively monotheistic, and they allowed no idols or other material symbols of deity in their temples. There was less enmity on the part of the Jews against the Persians than against the other great nations with whom they came in contact, due probably to the monotheism which characterized the Persian religion. So, Cyrus whatever else may be said of him, was certainly not an idolater.—Christian Herald.

Napkins.
Napkins became popular in France sooner than in England. At one time it was customary at great French dinners to change the napkins at every course, to perfume them with rose-water and to have them folded a different way for each guest.

Halcyon Days.
A halcyon is a kingfisher, and "halcyon days" are so called because it was supposed that the weather was always peaceful when the kingfisher was breeding.

It is liable to make your favorite nook a pretty shivery spot. But, with a Perfection Smokeless Heater in the house, cold need have no terrors. It will warm and keep any room warm and comfortable, in spite of the coldest, rawest wind.

Gives out the most heat, at the least expense, when filled with Atlantic Rayolight Oil. Inquire at your dealer's.

Every trace of dirty, soapy water gone—the porcelain white and clean. Simple and practical, isn't it?

Surprising the number of ways Atlantic Rayolight Oil does help keep the home bright, cheery and clean. Thousands of careful housekeepers tell us (as a result of our advertised request) that Atlantic Rayolight Oil is the very best thing for such purposes as polishing windows and mirrors, brightening up linoleum and restoring dull and faded carpets.

Of course, for this kind of work, the very finest kerosene is needed; that's why these experienced, competent women use

ATLANTIC
Rayolight
OIL

And it's ever so much better for purposes of lighting and heating.

You see it burns slowly and economically, yielding an intense, constant, steady heat without a jot of smoke or smell. A steady, flickerless, soft, white light beams from almost any lamp in which it is burned, but to get the best and most light for the least money, use a Rayo Lamp filled with Atlantic Rayolight Oil.

You buy it certain that it will give the greatest heat, the finest light and that careful refining makes it best for household purposes. But, with all these advantages, Atlantic Rayolight Oil costs no more than the unknown, unreliable kind.

Ask your dealer for it by name—

WILD ALL THROUGH.

The American Bay Lynx is an Animal That Can't Be Tamed.

We call him the American wildcat, although he is of a different species from the wildcat of Europe. His real name is bay lynx, and he is closely associated with that other animal of America, the Canadian lynx. The European wildcat is really the ancestor of the domestic cat, but you can't domesticate the bay lynx of America. He is wild all the way through.

He gets his front name from his color, which is a yellowish brown or bay. His tail is short, which has given him another name—bobcat. Unlike most cats, he is a good swimmer, and his hind feet are partly webbed.

The bay lynx frequents mountain woodlands in the less settled portions of America, and sometimes he makes his prey—deer and his raids on poultry. He is also a persistent robber of birds' nests, and he will eat your squirrels, rabbits, wild turkeys and anything that isn't too big for him to kill.

His appetite for animals has led people to fear him, although he will seldom attack human beings—only when he thinks he has to defend himself. He usually builds a nest of moss and leaves in a hollow tree. Philadelphia North American.

SCIENCE OF NOSES.

In Size and Shape, It Is Said, Is Shown the Wearer's Character.

Nasography reveals the character, habits and inclinations of people by a simple inspection of noses. According to the system, the nose should be as long as possible, and this is a sign of merit, power and genius. Examples—Napoleon and Caesar, both of whom had large noses. A straight nose denotes a just, serious and energetic mind, the Roman nose a propensity for adventure and a wide nose with open nostrils is a mark of great sensuality. A crooked nose shows benevolence. It was the nose of St. Vincent de Paul.

The curved fleshy nose is a mark of domination and cruelty. Catherine de Medici and Elizabeth of England had noses of this kind. The curved, thin nose, on the contrary, is a mark of a brilliant mind, but vain and disposed to be ironical. It is the nose of a dreamer, a poet or a critic. If the line of the nose is re-entrant—that is, if the nose is turned up—it denotes that its owner has a weak mind, sometimes coarse, and generally playful, pleasant and frolicsome. A pale nose denotes egotism, envy, heartlessness. The quick, passionate, sanguine man has a strongly colored nose of uniform shade. —London Tit-Bits.

A Great Military Feat.

Nanza, in Corsica, is very proud of the story of a great military feat performed there long ago. It is told in "Romantic Corsica," by George Renwick.

The French in 1768 had subjugated all the northern cape with the exception of the tower of Nanza, which for a considerable time sustained a close siege. Attacking parties were driven back by a fierce fire, but at last the garrison agreed to surrender if allowed to march out with all the honors of war. This was conceded, and old Captain Casella appeared, staggering under a load of muskets and pistols.

"Why is the garrison so long in coming out?" asked the French commander.

"It is here, sir," replied Casella. "I am the garrison."

Needs No Lightning Rod.

A building 9,000 feet above sea level should be protected by lightning rods, one thinks, but the astronomical observatory at Mount Etna has not and does not need such protection. The observatory is near the summit of the volcano, and the stream of vapor constantly rising from the crater acts as a natural conductor, draining the electricity out of the clouds, so that lightning is seldom seen there.

If This Insect Had Wings!

You can excuse a child for calling a whale a fish, but listen to this youngster, who is reported in the Boston Transcript:

Child at Library—Please give me a book on whales.

A book on natural history with a chapter devoted to whales is brought. The Child—Oh, I don't mean a book on the insect. I mean the country.

Simple Directions.

"My dear," said she, "please run and bring me the needle from the haystack."

"I don't know which haystack."

"Look in all the haystacks. You can't miss it. There's only one needle." —From "More Jonathan Papers."

Woman's Desire to Attract.

Owing to the system under which we live, where man is a valuable prey, woman has contracted the habit of trying to attract. Even aggressive insolence on her part may conceal the desire to attract by exasperating. —W. L. George in Atlantic.

Has to Be.

"Our alimony club is very economical."

"Well, it goes without saying that an alimony club has to husband its means." —Baltimore American.

"Neither; it is a calling." —Christian Register.

LONDON'S BRIDGES.

The First of These Historic Structures Named a Juvenile Game.

Can you remember when you were a little tyke and played "London bridge is falling down" during recess or at children's parties when the girls were not to much dressed up? The game always ended with a victorious pull of the opposing sides, with the result that usually both forces went down in the dust. Did you know that that childish game was one of the genuine antiques and that it could trace its origin to a real historic fact? The first bridge over the Thames, at the headwaters of navigation, about half a mile above the Tower, was so old that the story of its construction is lost in a maze of myths. It happened on the 16th of November, 1014, and it was the result of the most devastating storm and the most terrible and sudden flood that London had ever seen.

That first bridge was entirely of wood. It was not rebuilt for almost a century, and the second bridge consisted of stone arches, resting on deep piling. It was forty feet wide and almost a thousand feet long. Houses were built along the bridge, also resting on piling, until the bridge looked like a city street. These buildings were swept away by fire in 1094. In the middle of the bridge was a draw, with a tower, on which were exhibited the heads of Englishmen who were executed for treason against the kings of England. The present London bridge was begun in 1824, a little way above the old one, and it is of such massive construction that there is little danger of its ever "falling down." —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TACT AND A SPEECH.

Why Disraeli Changed His Mind About Speaking In French.

In Lord Beaconsfield's "Memoirs" there are some stories of Lord Beaconsfield. The following is particularly characteristic:

"There was one amusing incident in connection with the Berlin congress. One day it was announced that on the morrow Lord Beaconsfield was to address the assembled statesmen and that he would speak in French. Lord Otto Russell, who was a master of tongues, heard this with no little alarm, for it was well known that Lord Beaconsfield's French was very much of the Stratford-atte-Bowe type. Lord Otto, always clever, went to him and adroitly turned the conversation on to the next day's conference. Lord Beaconsfield announced his intention of speaking.

"In what language do you propose to speak?" asked Lord Otto.

"In French," was the answer.

"I am afraid that will be a very great disappointment to the colleagues," said Lord Otto. "You see, they know that they have here in you the greatest living master of English oratory, and of course they are longing to hear you."

"The great man smiled his pleasure, and the speech was delivered in English. Lord Otto was wont to declare that he never knew whether Lord Beaconsfield took the hint or accepted the compliment."

The Measure.

The ancient judge sat before the scales of worth.

"Bring forth the royal treasure!" he cried, and the hurrying slaves poured into the huge pans sacks of golden metal, caskets of sparkling gems until it seemed as if all the wealth of earth were there. Yet the balance never stirred.

"Let the learning of the ages be added," came the order, and tons upon tons of the wisdom of sages, philosophers, scientists and poets was heaped upon the pile. And still the great arm of the scales remained high in air.

"Add now the men of power and high position," said the judge, "and the scale will fall." But all in vain.

"But what is on the other side that outweighs all these?" asked one.

"It is character," said the judge. Portal.

Walter Was Puzzled.

This is a true story. Little Walter whose father is a professor in a middle west university, was scrutinizing his parents closely and said: "Father, you have such heavy eyebrows, and mother has hardly any. What are eyebrows for?" The father replied, promptly, "Why, eyebrows are—eyebrows are to keep the precipitation from getting into people's eyes when they work hard." "But, father," protested Walter, "I don't see how that can be, for mother's would need to be many times heavier than yours." And father was lost in thought. —Christian Register.

Over the Mark.

"Does he aim at realism in the stories he writes?"

"He may aim at it, but he doesn't hit within a million miles of it."

"How's that?"

"The hero of his last story is a 'spend-thrift Scotchman.'" —Houston Post.

Department of Agriculture.

Before 1889 the department of agriculture was simply a bureau. Before the Fiftyth Congress adjourned it passed a bill making the bureau a department and the commissioner of agriculture a secretary and a member of the cabinet.

Enthusiasts.

"I had a wonderful drive yesterday," said the motorist.

"What'd you use, the wood or iron?" asked the golf bug. Exchange.

Choose the life that is most useful and habit will make it the most agreeable. —Tacou.

FORM OF THE EARTH.

It Has Changed but Very Little In Many Millions of Years.

The earth's form is that which its rotation period demands. Undoubtedly if the period has changed the form has changed. Given a little time, solids under great pressure flow quite readily into new forms.

Now, any great slowing down of the earth's rotation period within geological times would be expected to show in the surface features. The strain should have wrinkled, so to speak, in the equatorial regions and stretched in the polar regions if the earth changed from a spheroid that was considerably flatter than it now is to its present form. Mountains, as evidence of the folding of the rock strata, should exist in profusion in the torrid zone and be scarce in or absent from the higher latitudes of the earth.

Such differential effects do not exist, and it seems to follow that changes in the earth's rotation period and in its form could have been only slight while the stratification of our rocks was in progress. Geologists estimate from the deposition of denudation and sedimentation that the formation of the rock strata has consumed from 60,000,000 to 100,000,000 years.

If the earth had substantially its present form 80,000,000 years ago we are safe in saying that the period of time represented in the building up of the earth from a small nucleus to its present dimensions has been vastly longer, probably reckoned in the thousands of millions of years. —W. W. Campbell in Scientific Monthly.

VIRTUE OF A GOOD LAUGH.

A Tonic That Stimulates the Body and All Its Organs.

There is not the remotest corner or little inlet of the minute blood vessels of the human body that does not feel some wavelet from the convulsion occasioned by good hearty laughter.

The life principle, or the central man, is shaken to the innermost depths, sending new tides of life and strength to the surface, thus materially tending to insure good health to the persons who indulge therein.

The blood moves more rapidly and conveys a different impression to all the organs of the body as it visits them on that particular mystic journey when the man is laughing from what it does at other times.

For this reason every good, hearty laugh, in which a person indulges, lengthens his life, conveying, as it does, new and distinct stimulus to the vital forces.

Don't think the time will come when physicians, conceding more importance than they now do to the influence of the mind upon the vital forces of the body, will make up their prescriptions more with reference to the mind and less to drugs for them and will, in so doing, find the best and most effective method of producing the required effect upon the patient.

LITERARY FORGERIES.

Stuff With Which Vrain-Lucas Duped An Aged Scientist.

The most remarkable literary forgery on record was perpetrated in 1870 on Michael Charles, a French scientist of European reputation. Charles, who was in his dotage, purchased within a few years from one Vrain-Lucas no fewer than 27,000 autographs. A. M. Broadley tells the story in his "Chats on Autographs."

"Beginning with a supposed correspondence between the youthful Newton and Pascal, Vrain-Lucas proceeded to fabricate letters of Rabelais, Montesquieu and La Bruyere. Before he had finished M. Charles became the possessor of letters in French, of Julius Caesar, Cleopatra, Mary Magdalene and even of Lazarus after his resurrection."

Vrain-Lucas was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and among other forged manuscripts from his pen there were produced in court letters from Alexander the Great, Herod, Pompey, Judas Iscariot, Suppho, Pontius Pilate and Joan of Arc.

A Strict Dramatic Censor.

Vienna once possessed the strictest dramatic censor ever known in the person of Franz Hoegelin, who held that post in the Austrian capital at the beginning of the last century. Hoegelin published a manual for the guidance of censors. "A pair of lovers should never be allowed to appear on the stage alone. They must always be accompanied by a third person of mature years." Marriages out of one's class were also strictly forbidden by Hoegelin on the stage, and he quotes an instance of a play which he refused to pass because the author made the hero, Count Valdemar, marry a gardener's daughter. "Such imbalances have unfortunately been known to occur in real life, but that is no reason why they should be allowed on the stage," he said.

The Hippopotamus.

In spite of its clumsy build the hippopotamus can trot fast. That is why he is called "river horse." The hippo's feet are kept far apart by the wide body and make paths with a ridge down the middle, recognizable at once. Hippos swim very well, but go at their greatest speed when they can gallop along the bottom in shallow water. They can stay under water a long time, and when they come to the surface they send little jets of spray from their nostrils. The cow is devoted to the calf. The young one stands on her back as the mother swims.

Fanny Dickens.
Fanny, the sister of Charles Dickens, was one of the first students entered at the old Royal Academy of Music when it opened its doors at Tottenham street in 1823, and at that time the students lived at the academy, only going home for the week end. "Every Sunday," Dickens told Foster, "I was at the academy at 9 o'clock in the morning to fetch her (Fanny), and we walked back there together at night." And the Sunday itself the two spent in the Marshalsea prison, where their father and mother then resided, owing to Mr. Dickens having failed to propitiate his creditors. While her father was still in prison Fanny won a prize at the academy, and the future novelist, then engaged in pasting labels on blacking pots at 7 shillings a week, was present to see her receive it.—Westminster Gazette.

A LITERARY RIDDLE.

Why Does a Woman Write Differently From a Man?

Why is it that you can always tell a story written by a man from one written by a woman? I saw the thing put to a rather severe test within the last month, with results that were startling.

Ten men and women, all of whom do considerable novel reading, had had dinner together. One of the men asked the question I put at the top of these paragraphs. He was in his own home and went to some trouble to prove that the sex of authors is an easy thing to determine.

Giving to each of the nine others a pencil and piece of paper, the host proceeded to read extracts from twenty different books and magazines, selecting parts in which proper names would not identify the story. As he read each person wrote down his guess as to whether the author was a man or a woman.

Of the 180 answers made by the nine persons to the twenty tests all but eight were correct. As he kept the books from which he read concealed it was impossible to get aid with the eye.

But, although everybody guessed right almost every time, no one could still give a good definition of the conundrum. Why does a woman write differently from a man?—Philadelphia Ledger.

INFLAMMABLE BOMBS.

Substances Used in the Making of These Deadly Explosives.

The incendiary bomb used by the Zeppelin aircraft, as a rule, is composed of ten inch diameter of the base, wrapped round with tarred rope and having a metal handle at the apex. The base is a flat cup, into which a pierced metal funnel is fitted, having the ignition device and handle fitted at the top.

The funnel is generally filled with thermite. The latter, upon ignition, generates intense heat and by the time of the concussion has taken the form of molten metal, having the extraordinary high temperature of 5,000 degrees F. The molten metal is spread by the concussion.

Outside the funnel is a padding of a highly inflammable or resinous material, bound on with an inflammable form of rope. The resinous material creates a pungent smoke.

There is generally some melted white phosphorus in the bottom of the cap, which develops noxious fumes. In some cases celluloid clippings are added, and occasionally a small quantity of gasoline.—Philadelphia Press.

Buildings.

Buildings are contrivances which surround trouble, despair, pleasure, entertainment, business, indolence and plumbing.

Buildings are built with brick, mortar, cement, wood, steel and mortgages. It also takes sand to build buildings, but they should not be built on sand.

Some buildings are public and some are private. Public buildings are usually very imposing, and usually the public has been imposed upon to build them. Private buildings are frequently occupied by several inquisitive women. Such buildings are made up of a large number of stories and most of them are without foundation.

But the inhabitants, if they exist, may console themselves for living in a temperature approaching zero with the fact that they can seldom be dunned for income tax, because their year contains more than 30,000 days.—London Mail.

The Bull of Perillus.

GREAT SALT LAKE.

Its Water Is Saline Simply Because It Has No Outlet.

Great Salt Lake has no outlet. The Jordan River, which enters it from the south, is the outlet of Utah lake. Bear River, coming in from the north, carries the outflow from that lake. The waters of Utah and Bear lakes and of Jordan and Bear rivers are fresh, and so is the water of Weber river, the third great tributary of Great Salt Lake, but the lake into which the three rivers flow is saline. It is saline because it has no outlet.

The fresh waters of the rivers contain some saline matter, but the quantity is too small to be discovered by taste.

As stated by the chemist, in parts per million, the quantity seems minute, but when account is taken of the total volume of water brought by the streams to the lake in a year their burden of saline matter is found to be really great, amounting annually to more than 500,000 tons.

Year by year and century by century the water which they pour into the lake is evaporated, but the dissolved solids cannot escape in that way and the lake grows larger.

They have accumulated until the lake water is approximately saturated, holding nearly as much mineral matter as it can retain in solution. The lake contains over 50,000,000 tons of common salt and 100,000,000 tons of glauber salt (sodium sulphate) as well as other mineral matter.—New York Telegram.

ROMANCE OF THE BAHAMAS.

Life in Nassau Was Once a "Purple Princely Thing."

During the American war between the states Nassau of the Bahamas was very much on the tongues of men, as the devil-may-care euphorism of contraband cotton, whereby hangs many a dashing sea story, some of which you can still hear from the lips of the men who took part in them.

The whole history of the Bahamas, since Columbus made his first landfall in the western seas on Watling's island, has been a fantastic record of desperate opportunism. The prose of "legitimate" business has seldom dulled the edge of precarious prosperity on these derelict islands, whose very existence still seems at the grudging mercy of the sea.

Buccannery, wrecking and blockade running—no more tedious employ than these masculine professions occupied the Bahamians for generations, and so long as there were merchantmen to be boarded or scuttled, rich cargoes to be harvested from the white fanged reefs or cotton to be run to Wilmington at a profit of $100,000 the trip life in Nassau was a purple princely thing, and even the shoeblacks in Bay street played pitch and toss with gold.—Richard Le Gallienne in Harper's Magazine.

Burial Customs of the Hittites.

Although the tombs of the necropolis had been rifled at an early date, a great deal that is new was learned about the burial customs of the Hittites. Graceful vases, simple in design and undecorated, held the ashes of the cremated body, together with any trinkets the person was wearing at the time of death. A small vase about a foot high was inclosed in a footed vessel of cylindrical shape, which was beautifully decorated in patterns like those of Crete and Cyprus. Around the middle vessel were grouped various dishes containing burial gifts or oil, most of them plain, but some of beautiful shape and as thin as modern china, though unglazed. It can well be seen that these two vessels would protect the ashes from dampness from below, but as both were open at the top there was a large cover, like an enormous bowl, inverted over the other two vessels.—Christian Herald.

Coffin Pasties.

Mince pies now are generally round, but there was a time when they were of a long, coffin shape and were, in fact, often referred to as "coffin pasties." But this somewhat gruesome name and shape do not appear to have detracted from their popularity. Scogin, for instance, in the edition of his "Jests" published in 1626, is reported to have said on his deathbed: "Masters, I tell you all that stand about me, if I might live to eat a Christmas pie I care not if I dye by and by after, for Christmas pie is good meat."—London Chronicle.

Couldn't Get at Him.

Grubbs—Young Blower tells me that at the trial of the last case in which he participated he moved the jurors to tears. Stubbs—Yes, so one of the jurors told me. He said that they were hemozed in by a high railing and two tallies were constantly on guard. The tears were tears of rage.—Richmond Times Dispatch.

SPECIALISTS IN CHINA.

They Know to a Nicety Just Where Their Work Begins and Ends.

The Englishman knows how to serve, and he knows how to be served, says Isaac Taylor Heald in "Home Life in China" in the number of service and serving even the Chinaman must take a second place, for the Chinaman has specialized service such as has never been done in Great Britain.

We sometimes think we are specialists in the west. We have our eye specialists, a kind of service, of course, although I simply use them to illustrate what I wish to say. Here our eye often combine with the treatment of the eye that of the ear, the nose and the throat. They have not got down to a last analysis of specialization as the Chinese doctor has.

A man had been shot with an arrow, the head of which was buried in the flesh. He tried to pull it out, but the skin had closed over the head, and he was not able to do so. He went to a physician to get him to remove it. The doctor promptly sawed the shaft off close to the skin and then demanded his fee. "That," said the sufferer, "the head of the arrow is still inside."

"Quite right," said the doctor, "and I am a physician, not a surgeon. I can only cure inside diseases. If you want the head taken out you will have to go to another specialist who cares for inside ailments."

WON BY DARING WIT.

Story of Czar Paul, His Sacred Snuff Box and a Wager.

Czar Paul's snuffbox was as sacred as the imperial crown itself. No one was allowed to touch it. Kapoff was zered that he would take a pinch out of it.

One morning he walked up to the table which stood near the bed on which the czar still reclined and boldly took from it the majestic snuffbox. Opening it noisily, he inserted his finger and, while Paul I. was watching him in stupefaction at such audacity, he snatched up the fragrant powder with evident satisfaction.

"What are you doing there, you rogue?" exclaimed the czar excitedly. "Having a pinch of snuff, sire. I have now been on duty for eight hours, and feeling drowsy, I thought it would keep me awake, for I would rather break the rules of etiquette than neglect my duty."

Paul burst out laughing and merely replied: "That's right enough, my lad, but as the snuffbox is not large enough for both of us you can keep it for yourself."

Reptiles Are Shortsighted.

According to a naturalist, serpents, in spite of their reputation for alertness, are very shortsighted. Some of them cannot see more than a yard or two in front of them. Other reptiles are similarly deficient in sense of vision, and the authority asserts that a crocodile cannot see a man at a greater distance than six times its own length. In respect of hearing, many reptiles are even more deficient than in sight. Some serpents are deaf, the boa, it is said, being unable to hear any sound. The term "deaf adder" consequently expresses a fact. In one respect some reptiles show singular acuteness. They have an unerring instinct for water and in dry weather will travel straight to it, even when they are at such long distances that the mystery is how they could possibly become aware of its locality.

The Seal's Sense of Smell.

The sense of smell possessed by the seals is very strong and will invariably wake them out of a sound sleep even if you come upon them ever so quietly to the windward, and you will alarm them in this way much more thoroughly, though you be a half mile distant than if you came up carelessly from the leeward and even walked in among them, they seeming to feel that you are not different from one of their own species until they smell you. The chief attraction in these animals is their large, handsome eyes, which indicate great intelligence. They are a deep bluish black, with a soft, glistening appearance, and the pupil, like the cat's, is capable of great dilation and contraction.

Wheat and Flour.

It takes about four and a half bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour but different wheats vary from this estimate. A hard wheat produces more flour to the bushel than a soft wheat. Generally speaking, a bushel of wheat will yield from 75 to 78 per cent of flour of different grades, distributed about as follows: Patent flour, 55 to 60 per cent; bakers' flour, 3 to 10 per cent; red dog, 5 per cent, making approximately 75 to 78 per cent of flour and leaving 25 to 30 per cent of feedstuff that is bran, shorts etc.—Philadelphia Press.

Freeman the Historian.

It was an English bishop who, when the historian Freeman had worn out his patience with his rudeness, introduced him to a waiting audience as "the distinguished scholar that so admirably describes and illustrates the savagery of our ancestors."

The Result.

"Why, Gertrude is burning her old love letters in the furnace."—Baltimore American.

"Was your trip a success?"

THE FIRST SKYSCRAPER.

It Was Designed by a Savvy Architect Three Centuries Ago.

Credit for the first skyscraper built in this country is generally conceded to Chicago. It was built in the "Loop" district of that city in 1884, from plans by Holabird & Lynde. The first example of lofty building in New York city was the structure at 59 Broadway, designed by Bradford Lee Gilbert in 1888. A few years later both these wonders became insignificant and practically forgotten because they were so greatly outdone by succeeding skyscrapers. But these were not the initial efforts, for a skyscraper was designed nearly three centuries ago, many generations before the discovery of the steel case system of this day.

Jacques Perret, an architect of Chambéry, Savoy, is the accredited author of plans for an eleven story building, 261 feet in height, which must have had twice the space between floors, for today eleven stories are crowded within a height of 150 feet. Perret's building was planned to be 196 feet long and 140 feet wide, with supporting walls twelve feet thick at the base.

While never executed, the project of Perret in many ways was a remarkable prophetic vision. Evidently it was intended for dwelling purposes, for in describing the project he wrote, "This great and excellent edifice can accommodate comfortably 500 people."—New York Post.

INDELIBLE MARKING.

Advantages of Using Just Ordinary Blueprint Solution.

There are many occasions upon which it is necessary to mark linen or wearing apparel indelibly with one's name and address, yet the ink sold for this purpose is not always convenient to use or attractive in appearance, says the American Boy.

A very good substitute is the ordinary blueprint powder, sold by any photographic dealer, a thick solution being made and used just as the ordinary ink would be. Instead of fixing this by the use of a hot iron, it is made permanent simply by washing in several changes of cold water. When thoroughly fixed the writing will appear in a very pretty shade of blue. Should you prefer a rubber stamp may be used instead of a pen. In this case a little glycerine should be mixed with the solution, which should be spread upon a clean cloth or blotter. This is then used as an ink pad for the stamp.

Aside from its convenience marking with blue print solution has the advantage that traces of the writing or any stains caused by it may be removed if desired by the application of a solution of tannin.

Gagadig Gigadab.

There was a quaint old man in Manchester, England, who for many years went by the unique name of Gagadig Gigadab. His original name was John Smith, and for many years he brooded over the possibilities of mistaken identity involved in it. The name figured frequently in criminal records, and he became abnormally apprehensive lest he might be confused with some of the bad John Smiths. At last what he feared so much actually happened. One morning the papers reported the arrest of an accountant in a bank for embezzlement, and through some blunder of the reporter the identity of the embezzler was confused with the subject of this article, who was also a bank accountant. Then and there he determined to assume a name like unto no other ever borne by mortal man. And in Gagadig Gigadab most people will agree that he succeeded in so doing.

Excitement.

People who easily get excited, don't usually live nearly so long as people who keep calm. Excitement, in fact, wastes the vitality and affects one's health to a very great extent. This is true, too, of all who seek excitement, whether physical or mental. Excitement makes the pulse beat above the ordinary rate, and one's reserve of energy is used up so much the quicker. Occasional excitement, however, is very good for one's health, especially where the pulse is slow, but the natural condition of the body should be one of calmness and regularity.

Modern Efficiency.

"I don't see how Adele could possibly stop to get married. She has such a passion for traveling."
"But she did it to save time."
"How's that?"
"She married a shipping clerk and now he packs all her trunks for her."—Judge.

Tough That Failed.

Mrs. Winks—It was a touching story that that poor man told you, wasn't it? Mr. Winks—Well, he thought it would enable him to touch me for $10, but it didn't.—Somerville Journal.

Those Husbands!

CHARLEROI MAN GETS CALL TO POINT MARION CHURCH

D. R. LaRue a Charleroi young man who has been educated for the ministry by the C. W. B. M. of the First Christian church of this place has accepted a call to the Point Marion Christian church. Mr. LaRue will be graduated with the 1916 class at Bethany college. He will take up his work immediately after graduation. A special study of missionary work among the French and Belgians was taken up by Mr. LaRue and his charge will afford opportunity for much work along this line.

TWO FACED JANUS.

He Was the Ancient Sun God as Well as the God of War.

Poor old Janus! Do you know how shamefully posterity has maligned him? You have heard all your life that January was named for the Roman god Janus and that Janus was the god of war, hence the first month of the year must be turbulent. Or perhaps you have gone deeper into the significance of the first month's name and have been told that it was given the honor of heralding that gory god because in that first month the world into the past and the other looking into the future, as the first month of the year nature would do. But throughout all this have been clearly before you the fact that he was the god of the new year, perhaps even the initiator of war.

As a matter of fact, Janus was a very old and thoroughly established deity before the Epic band of Trojans carried eastern culture to Italy, when the primeval Italians had not begun to suspect that war was an institution which called for a "god." War needed no justification or excuse. Men fought because that seemed the only thing to do. As for Janus, he was the greatest sun god. He presided over the rising and setting of the sun, and hence he was the god who looked after the propitious beginnings and happy endings of all undertakings. He was represented with two faces, which looked to the east and the west. His temple in Rome was closed only in time of peace, and as there seldom was peace it was usually open. Hence he was called the god of war.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TRIBUTE TO THE MULE.

With All His Faults He Is a More or Less Noble Character.

The mule is singularly free from the ills to which horseflesh is heir. He has more days work in him in 365 consecutive days than any farm animal or farm engine. He requires less feed when at work than any horse that can approach his capacity, for when he is idle he can forage successfully where the draft horse finds the picking too slim. He takes no luck with any owner cheerfully and keeps fit upon it.

In peace the mule is man's most faithful servant, although the gentlest of his kind is not entirely free from original sin and the oldest may experience unaccountable sporadic outbreaks of devilment.

In war the mule retains his character as a hard toiler, a good scout and a homely figure about whom the poets and painters at the front do not grow enthusiastic. Although he is unsung when living and not greatly honored he is not unwept when at thirty or beyond he lies down, sighs peacefully rather than reproachfully and gives up his Spartan spirit.

If there is a hereafter for animals
the mule's paradise is a series of Elysian fields with fences that only a good jumper can clear, with colts to chase, with something alive and preferably two legged to kick and with plenty of rough, plain vegetables and a few roots to play with in sportive moods and to give drivers not brutal, yet not too indulgent, for human companionship.—
Louisville Courier-Journal.

Portuguese and Codfish.

It is an interesting fact that the fishermen of northern Portugal started and developed the fishing industry on the "banks" off the northern coast of America, and, though they now send fewer ships, their taste for salt cod from Newfoundland is unabated. Infact, it is a national Portuguese dandy.
It is found in every little grocery shop, hard and brown as a board. A number of Portuguese have made their homes on the islands to the south of the mainland of Massachusetts, and there the dark eyes of the Iberian maiden, raven locks and a certain picturesque element in dress are not infrequent. This connection with Portugal dates back many years, the ships of Marthas Vineyard bridging the distance over sea and returning with Portuguese crews.—Exchange.

Royal Nicknames.

Louis XIV. was "Le Grand Mo-narque." His court was the model for European princes.
Louis Philippe was the "Citizen
King" at one time he was "King Smith," the name he assumed when he escaped from France.
Mary, queen of Scots, was the
"White Queen."
Mary of Modena, wife of James II.,
was the "Queen of Tears."
The "Nine Days' Queen" was Lady
Jane Grey.
Christian III. of Denmark was the "Father" of his people.

Somewhat Confusing.

"And how is grandma, Brian?" asked
the kind friend.
"Oh, she's better," replied Brian.
"The day before yesterday the doctor said that she might get up the day after tomorrow, and yesterday was tomorrow, and today is the day after tomorrow. So she's up today!"
Collapse of kind friend.—Exchange.

Guaranteed.

"Are these eggs fresh?" inquired the skeptical customer testily.
"Oh, yes, sir," replied the attentive
but inexperienced waiter reassuringly.
"They were taken out of the incubator
this very morning!"—Richmond Times Dispatch.

Girls Just Girls.

table and said you looked so young in
it. Marie—The daffodil? Ethel—He great many years ago. Boston Herald.
